Successful project: BG Bonnard & Gardel Holding SA

The initial situation/challenge: Communication and coordination difficulties led BG Bonnard & Gardel Holding SA to evaluate a new solution

The increasing pace of globalisation led BG to consider a centralised multi-project management solution to handle corporate projects across its various plants. The existing solution generated communication and coordination problems between these plants and had thus become obsolete. A new project management solution was consequently evaluated.

The solution: Customised software from parm ltd.

Thanks to the flexible customised adaptations permitted by the software developed by parm ltd., the company opted for this solution. The existence of several plants and hence different currencies had proved to be particularly problematic. parm ltd. decided to customise the software together with BG in order to meet the company's specific needs. The result was the e-collaboration module, which allowed projects to be performed easily without additional expense by decentralised teams working at different locations and using different currencies.

The success story: Faster processes thanks to real-time data

The divisional and project managers as well as all employees can access the information they need at any time – quite autonomously and independently of their place of work. Since myPARM is a web-based solution, the key figures are always up-to-date and instantly usable. The solution allows full cost accounting, so the direct success of a project is easy to identify. Additional profits or emerging losses are continuously forecast and clearly displayed in figures. Thanks to timesheet reporting independent of time and location, no accountable working hours and thus no money is lost. Administration and control of working hours is fast and efficient. Evaluations showing key data are issued by myPARM as standard, allowing the necessary responses to be rapidly introduced and implemented.
